

UNIX Important Short Questions & Answers (Subha DA)

UNIX Important Short Questions & Answers (1–50)

Source:

1. Kill command can be used by a user to kill his process.
2. All the contents of a file are stored in Super blocks.
3. Global file information about disk uses are stored in super block.
4. Inode does not contain the name of the file.
5. `p1 | p2` will append standard output of p1 to p2. (example of pipeline and pipe)
6. To append f1 and f2 to the end of a file tmp command is - `cat f1 f2 > tmp`
7. grep stands for Globally Search a Regular Expression and Print.
8. Regarding storage allocation, pipe uses only direct block.
9. Daemons are processes that are not connected with the system.
10. Process ID is assigned by the process itself.
11. Init process has 1 PID .
12. The & is used to run a process in the background.\ Run it in the background.
13. Zombie is a state where the process is alive.
14. The command is used for increasing the priority of a process is a nice.
15. TCP is connection-oriented protocol; UDP is connectionless protocol.
16. To take input from file IN and write sorted output to file OUT: `$sort IN > OUT`
17. To count frequency of a particular word in a file (Unix): `$grep -c "abc" sample.txt`
18. When we execute a shell script, the shell acts as an interpreter.
19. `$#` represents the number of arguments supplied to the shell script.
20. `X=10,Y=20` to Multiplication in UNIX: `expr $x * $y`
21. A shell is used because to protect OS from inadvertent unsafe access to kernel space.
22. The Shell parameter `$!` Represents PID of last background process
23. What does the redirection symbol “`<&`”do redirect standard input
24. `expr -7 % 2` evaluates to (-1).
25. Kernel is not involved when a read operation is done.
26. If umask is set to 777, permission for a newly created directory: `drwxrwxrwx`
27. Superblock contains file system size and how many maximum files it can accommodate.

28. Command to show kernel version of UNIX: `uname`
29. Command for deleting a directory which is not empty: `rm -r`
30. How many options are there in this command :- `ls-cut -c1 chap1,chap2` Ans: 2
31. To create a new file without opening it: `touch filename`
32. All contents of a file are stored in data block.
33. Representation of permission `rw-r-xr-x` ? = 756
34. To change user ID and group ID of a file: `chown()`
35. To copy an entire directory structure: `cp -rolddirnewdir`
36. Default permissions:
- File = 644
 - Directory = 777
37. Command used for changing permission: `chmod`
38. The part of OS responsible for execution of a shell program: Shell
- 39. ls is an external command + Internal command
40. Different file types available in UNIX:
- Regular file
 - Directory
 - Executable file
 - Device file
 - Named pipe
41. Shell is the interface between Kernel and User.
42. Name of current month: `date +%m`
43. The Type of kernel that gets completely copied into primary memory while booting is called : Monolithic Kernel
44. Which is not a task of UNIX Kernel? Filter Management
45. Superuser has the default prompt: `#`
46. UNIX supports : Multi-user and Multi-tasking
47. To quit without saving current work= :q!
48. Available disk space can be determined using: `df`
49. What is the output of: `A=1; echo "$A"` Output: 1s
50. UNIX is an Operating System (OS). UNIX shell is both a scripting and interpreter.